

Are You
Thin?
Pale?

All run down, easily tired, nervous? And do not know what to take? Then go direct to your doctor. Ask his opinion of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It contains no alcohol, no stimulation, and is a blood purifier, a nerve tonic, a strong alternative, an aid to digestion. Ask your doctor about Ayer's non-alcoholic Sarsaparilla as a strong tonic for the weak.

GOVERNOR ASKED TO CANCEL SALE ORDER

A petition addressed to Governor Frazar, asking him to cancel the order for the sale of the Hilo, County of Hawaii, territory of Hawaii, is being circulated in Hilo and, according to information received yesterday, is being generally signed. It is urged that the Hilo is the only public building in Hilo where large gatherings can be held and that its present location makes it a very desirable place for such public gatherings. The petition reads as follows:

"We, the undersigned, citizens and residents of the city of Hilo, County of Hawaii, territory of Hawaii, do hereby protest against the sale of the Hilo armory from the said site.

"The Hilo armory is the only public building in the city of Hilo where large public gatherings can be held, and as it is centrally located it therefore becomes very easy of access to the public.

"That the opening of the Waialua street along the Waialua river will make this a place where people can have on holidays and Sundays, and gather on an unobstructed view of the bay and the said Waialua river.

"That the said Hilo armory being located near the Hilo railroad station makes it a very desirable place for the public to meet and this saves the public from the outer districts the trouble of necessity of ascertaining as to the whereabouts of any gathering that may be had in said building.

"Hoping that you will consider this protest and cancel the order of sale of the said site."

The probate court at Honolulu, Connecticut, has refused to admit the will of the late James Brennan, on the ground that the instrument was drawn in a saloon. The will left the greater part of the estate to his widow, who was his third wife, and it was contested by the eight children of his first wife.

MAUI SHERIFF HAS SUSPECTED BURGLARS

(Mail Special to The Advertiser.)
WAILUKU, Maui, August 23.—Two Japanese were arrested yesterday accused of the Kipahulu Plantation Store burglary. Sheriff Crowell is confident that he has the right parties, as the evidence, though mostly circumstantial, points strongly at the men. The parties are contradicting one another in their stories and further developments are expected that will clinch the case against them.

MAY RECOMMEND MORE JAPANESE

Dr. T. Kitano and Dr. N. Wai, the former a government medical inspector at Yokohama, and the latter an emigrant inspector at Kobe, may arrive on the Mongolia next Monday to investigate Japanese immigration to these islands. They have been inspecting immigration conditions along the coast, and it is thought they will recommend that the Japanese government permit more emigration to both Hawaii and the mainland.

REFUND ACT IS VOID, HE ARGUES

Deputy Attorney-General Files
Brief in Merchandise
License Case.

That the act of the last legislature appropriating $20,000 for refunds of merchandise license taxes is void because of defect in its title, that the act is not a rightful subject of legislation, and that it is impossible to carry out its provisions because sufficient money was not appropriated, are reasons set forth in a brief filed yesterday by Deputy Attorney-General E. W. Sutton as to why Treasurer D. L. Conkling should not pay the demands for $53,083.65 which have been made upon him.

In order that an authoritative opinion concerning this matter might be obtained an agreed statement of facts in the case of G. E. Smithies against Treasurer Conkling was recently submitted to the supreme court. The attorney-general's department followed this up by presenting its brief yesterday.

Claims Exceed Appropriation.
The merchandise license fees were paid under the laws of 1897. On June 14, 1900, the constitution of the United States was taken to apply to the Territory and in January, 1901, the supreme court of Hawaii declared the merchandise license law unconstitutional.

The last legislature considered that it would be a righteous act to repay the amounts and thought $20,000 would cover them. However, claims were filed amounting to $53,083.65. Of this sum $27,616.35 represented the total paid after June 14, 1900, while the licensees paid prior to the date when the United States constitution was made applicable to the Territory amounted to $25,467.30.

Claims amounting to $18,938.78 out of the $27,000 odd paid after June 14, 1900, were assigned to G. E. Smithies, but when he sought to collect, Treasurer Conkling refused to pay, claiming that the act authorizing the payment of $20,000 was void.

Fatal Defect in Title.
The brief filed by Mr. Sutton yesterday upholds this view. He points out first the defect in the title. He says that the purpose expressed in that title is that only such taxes as were collected after June 14, 1900, the date when the constitution of the United States applied in Hawaii, are to be repaid. However, in the body of the act the purpose expressed is to pay all amounts.

It is remarked that, assuming that there exists a moral obligation to pay back the amounts collected after the law became unconstitutional, as to certainly is no obligation as to payments before that time. The two things are mentioned together in the act and therefore can not be separated. Thus defect makes the act void.

Not Rightful Subject.
In arguing that the matter is not a rightful subject of legislation Mr. Sutton points out that to the extent at least of repayment of the money collected before the law became unconstitutional, it is "an attempt to divert public funds to private use without any moral obligation or other consideration of public policy to support it." He states that at the time the earlier license are collected the law was in perfect harmony with the constitution of laws of the republic and the provisional government.

It is declared that, assuming that the legislature could appropriate public money to repay the amounts collected after the license law became unconstitutional, this present attempt must fail because there is no separation of the two objects of the act.

"The act must be considered as a whole and must be held to be not a rightful subject of legislation," declares the deputy attorney-general. He goes on:

No Obligation to Pay.
"But the assumption just made (that so much of the act as seeks to appropriate money for paying back the amounts collected after the license law became unconstitutional) is a rightful subject of legislation, is not true in fact. There must be some obligation, either legal or moral, to justify this diversion of public funds."

Mr. Sutton can find no legal obligation, for not only is there the bar of the statute of limitations but, besides, no protest of this tax was ever made, he says.

Nor is there even a moral obligation to pay the amounts, he declares. "Those who paid the taxes received benefits to the amount of the tax by increased sales, or increased prices, and by elimination of competition from others who, but for the necessity of paying a similar license tax, might have engaged in the same business."

People, Not Merchants, Suffered.
A strong point brought out by Mr. Sutton is that it was not the merchants who paid the taxes who suffered, but the people who bought the goods from the merchants, "for the people were compelled to pay higher prices to cover the amount of the taxes. If a moral obligation to pay anyone exists it is to pay the people generally, and the people have been repaid, theoretically at least, by the government's gain. For these reasons we submit that the act is not a rightful subject of legislation."

It is further pointed out that the act did not pass three readings in each house, as required by the Organic Act.

PRINCIPAL McCLUSKEY AND MISS LYMAN WED

HILO, August 21.—The wedding of William McCluskey, the supervising principal for East Hawaii, and Miss Katherine Lyman, the daughter of Judge F. R. Lyman, took place last Wednesday at the Lyman mountain house at Twenty-nine Miles. It was a very quiet affair, only the members of the family and a few intimate friends being present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Aug. Drahus. The bride was given away by her father, and was attended by Miss Clowes as bridesmaid, while Fred A. Clowes supported the groom as best man.

Mr. and Mrs. McCluskey are planning to make an extensive trip to the East. McCluskey having secured a leave of absence for a year from the department of public instruction.

ROADS NEEDED IN NUUANU DISTRICT

New Improvement Club Organ-
izes and Discusses Future
Campaigns.

Completing its organization, electing officers and adopting a constitution and by-laws, the Nuuanu Improvement Club held an enthusiastic meeting last evening at the merchants' association rooms in the Young building, during which the necessity for opening up new roads in the Nuuanu district was emphasized.

Chairman A. F. Judd opened the meeting and read the form of organization which the committee, appointed last week, had drawn up, and this was adopted as read. These rules had been drawn up by Sam Walker, after a study of the way in which the Manoa and Kaimuki improvement clubs conducted their business, and the examples studied were followed in many instances.

Objects of Club.
Objects of the association as set forth are to secure general improvements for the Nuuanu district, such as good roads, trees, sewers, and water works, and to see that its share of work is obtained from the government. Club fees are one dollar.

It was decided that the annual meeting should be held on the last Thursday of September and that regular meetings are to be held on the last Thursday of every quarter.

Officers Chosen.
The slate of officers prepared and adopted was: A. F. Judd, president; George Sherman, vice-president; H. C. Carter, secretary, and E. T. P. Waterhouse, treasurer. The executive committee consists of these officers and A. Lewis Jr., H. H. Walker and L. L. McCandless.

Sub-committees named to carry on the work of the club were: Roads, George Rodick, J. L. Fleming, O. S. Weight, Harry M. von Holt, L. M. Whitehouse.

Water supply, Albert Alfong, W. L. Emory, E. A. Cooke.
Fire protection, A. F. Ewart, F. P. McIntyre, J. O. Young, W. O. Smith.

Sanitation, J. J. Campbell, W. H. Soper, C. H. Merriam, S. P. Correa.
Judiciary, Jack Waldron, A. L. Cagle, William Protenhauer.

General Discussion.
After the adoption of the slate as presented, the meeting was open for general discussion and nearly every one of the twenty-four members present took a chance to express their ideas on the subjects under discussion. It was mentioned that the Kaimuki club had one member at least present at each meeting of the board of supervisors to watch out for the interests of that section, and it was decided that the members of the executive committee of this club should take that duty upon themselves.

The matter of opening up new streets in Nuuanu section came up for much discussion and the members had much to say as to whether such opening expense should be borne by the abutting owners or not. The sentiment was in favor of such expense, but there were several on the other side, the most persistent of whom was W. O. Smith, who held that a part of the expenses should be on the property owners and a part on the general public.

Statutes Antiquated.

President Judd stated that in his opinion the statutes of Hawaii in regard to road building were antiquated and out of date, and that new laws must be passed, and called special attention to senate bill No. 137, of the last legislature, which was very properly killed in the house, although the senate did not appear to think so. This bill provided for the opening of new streets and the assessment of the cost on the property owners in the district affected, this district to be determined by the board of supervisors.

More Streets Needed.

It was the sense of the members present that something must be done to open up Nuuanu, drain the taro patches and put through new streets, which would put valuable property on the market, though as to how this was to be accomplished no decision could be arrived at.

The members will talk over this matter before the meeting next month, and it is likely that some action will be taken in regard to more streets before that time.

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE OF HILO BECOME ONE

HILO, August 21.—The wedding of Miss Louise Husani Hapai and Mr. John Smith Rickard, which took place last Wednesday evening, was quite a social event. The ceremony took place in the Church of the Holy Apostles, Rev. W. H. Fenton-Smith officiating, and was attended by a large number of relatives and friends of the bride and groom. The church had been very effectively and prettily decorated.

Miss Helen Watson was the maid of honor, while Charles Withers attended the groom as best man. The bride was given away by her brother, Harry Hapai. A choir, composed of County Attorney Beers and a number of girl friends of the bride, furnished the music. After the ceremony the guests were entertained at the residence of the bride's mother.

The Tammany corn eating contest is an annual event of the greatest importance on the New York East Side. This year's contest, held on the porch of a Brown street saloon, was won by James Duggan, who ate fifty-seven apples and sixteen ears of corn, totaling 113 ears of corn and apples.
